Mexican Government Notified by President Wilson That the United States Would View With Alarm the Befalling of Any Injury to the Members of the House of Deputies Imprisoned by President Huerta.

Washington Oct. 14.—Germany has reached the conclusion that the existing situation in Mexico is such as to necessitate the presence of a German warship in Mexican waters. The cruiser Hertha, which is now being used as a school ship, probably will be selected as the most available warship for duty along the eastern coast of Mexico. She is now cruising in New England waters.

The Washington government is apparently not displeased at the action of the German government. The sending of a German warship is in line with the policy of other European governments, which have had vessels cruising off the Mexican coasts from time to time during critical moments of Mexico's internal strife.

Announcement was made at the state department that instructions had been sent to John Lind, the president's special agent in Mexico, and Nelson O'Shaughnessy, chargé d'affaires of Mexico City, directing them to inform the Huerta government that the United States would view with great displeasure the befalling of any injury to the members of the house of deputies who have been imprisoned by President Huerta. It was likewise given out that the administration does not see how, under existing conditions, elections can be held in Mexico within two weeks, in accordance with the provisions of the constitution.

Mr. Bryan conferred with the president, and it became known later that the president considered the fate of the imprisoned deputies as a matter of the gravest importance.

Recognition Remote.

The attitude of the administration toward the forthcoming elections is taken as an indication that it is prepared again to refuse recognition to a government of Mexico. It was pointed out that having expressed a lack of confidence in the possibility of holding elections worthy of the name, the administration can not consistently accept the result and confer recognition upon whomever is declared the winner at the polls. This probability, it is declared, opens up an unending vista of further complications in the Mexican situation and a continuation of unpleasant relations with the government of that country.

Advices reaching the state department in the last few days indicate that Huerta remains absolute master of the situation and there is no doubt that the Mexican congress was openly blocking Huerta at every turn and offering innumerable obstacles to his attempts to pacify the country and conduct the government.

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—Proclamations of Provisional President Huerta, of Mexico, announcing himself as dictator over Mexico, have been received this afternoon at the State Department and considered at a cabinet meeting at the White House.

Huerta's proclamation states that provisions of constitution granting immunity of arrest to members of Mexican Congress is suspended, and courteous and that he is not responsible for the intemperate language of his government.

Breach of Promise Case Being Retried at Cleveland.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 14.—Retrial of the $5,000 breach of promise suit of Miss Agnes Fitzmaurice of Dayton against Garrett O'Connor, Cleveland business man, was begun in common pleas court here. Last winter a jury here awarded Miss Fitzmaurice $1,500 damages. Subsequently Judge Neff granted O'Connor's motion for a new trial. Miss Fitzmaurice alleges that O'Connor repeatedly paid her fare from Dayton to Cleveland that he might woo her while she was visiting relatives here. Suit was filed when she learned that he had married Miss Bridget Heaney of Cleveland.

RICHMOND AND OSCAR HAVE A FIERCE TIME TELLING TALES

FIGHT IT OUT ON FLOOR OF HOUSE

Rival Candidates For Senate Air Differences In Congress.

HOBSON ASSAIS UNDERWOOD

Former Declares That Majority Leader as a Presidential Candidate Was the Tool of Wall Street and the Liquor Interests—Underwood White With Rage, Makes Spirited Reply Summary of the Debate.

Washington, Oct. 14.—A political debate between Oscar W. Underwood and Richmond P. Hobson, candidates for the United States senate from the state of Alabama in the house, bordered on the sensational. The names of President Wilson, William J. Bryan and Thomas F. Ryan of New York were brought into the discussion.

Mr. Hobson reiterated a charge he had made on the stump in Alabama that Mr. Underwood as a presidential candidate for nomination on the Democratic ticket last year was used as a "tool of Wall street" and that he was likewise a "tool of the liquor interests." Mr. Hobson further charged that the support for Mr. Underwood's presidential candidacy "was obtained under false pretenses."

Mr. Underwood, who had listened to this tirade and had gradually been growing white with anger, lost no time in replying. He began by expressing regret that Alabama politics was dragged to the floor of the house. Referring to newspaper statements that Mr. Hobson had said in a public speech and interviews that Mr. Underwood was a "tool of Wall street" and a tool of the "liquor interests," the house leader said he had waited patiently to answer the charge until he could look Mr. Hobson in the face.

The support of the people of Alabama, he said, was secured for Mr. Underwood for the presidency under false pretenses, and I hereby declare that their support of him for the United States senate shall not be obtained similarly under false pretenses."

Mr. Underwood, who had listened to this tirade and had gradually been growing white with anger, lost no time in replying. He began by expressing regret that Alabama politics was dragged to the floor of the house. Referring to newspaper statements that Mr. Hobson had said in a public speech and interviews that Mr. Underwood was a "tool of Wall street" and a tool of the "liquor interests," the house leader said he had waited patiently to answer the charge until he could look Mr. Hobson in the face.

Then turning gravely to his colleague Mr. Underwood called on him either to affirm or deny the reports that he had used such characterization.

Hobson said that he had merely referred upon Senator Bankhead's testimony under oath that a large part of the money for Underwood's campaign had come from Wall street.

Mr. Hobson has extended many invitations to many local friends to visit him on his island next summer and enjoy the fine fishing and famous garden fruits.

Professors Bring Them Back as South American Curiosities.

Baltimore—Having bagged 80,000,000 malignant germs in the wilds of Ecuador and Peru, Dr. Andrew Watson Sellards of Johns Hopkins university and his associates have landed their prey in this country and forthwith will proceed to make a scientific study of the creatures at short range.

His colleagues were Richard R. Strong, Dr. E. E. Tyzzer and Dr. Charles Brues, all of Harvard university, and Miss Nora Dwyer. Miss Dwyer was a non-combatant and, it is said, did not participate in the actual warfare on the germs. She was the secretary of the expedition and later on was intrusted with the guarding of the captives.

Among the 80,000,000 germs are pellagra, syphilis, yellow fever, big bone plague, typhoid fever, a collection known as mala, which is really South American leprosy, and the dreaded blackwater fever. The germs, all carefully crated, were admitted to the United States as "South American curiosities" and were shipped to Harvard college.

PARCELS MUST BE PACKED CAREFULLY

The local post office has received instructions to the effect that great care must be exercised in receiving parcel post packages in order to avoid breakage and damage.

Umbrellas, canes, golf sticks and articles of like character must not be accepted for mailing unless they are strapped securely to strips of wood of the same length, and are otherwise wrapped and made sufficiently strong to withstand the impact from heavier packages coming against them in the process of handling in their various stages of transit.

Pernishable articles—particularly berries and ripe fruits—also paints, oils, etc., contact with which would be destructive to the contents of other parcels must be denied admission to the mails unless the regulations with reference to packing are observed strictly.

When sharp pointed instruments are offered for mailing the points must be capped or encased, so that they cannot cut through their covering. Blades must be bound so that they will remain firmly attached to each other or within their handles or sockets.

Seeds and similar articles should be put in sealed envelopes, sufficiently transparent to show the contents. Ink powders, pepper, snuff and similar powders should be packed in the same manner required for liquids, so as to prevent the contents escaping in the mails. Fragile articles must be marked "Fragile," and perishable articles "Pernishable," and numerous details as to different articles must be observed. All such doubtful articles should be exhibited to the postal officials and advice asked as to the manner of packing.

Photos copyright 1913, by American Press Association.

The Gamboa dike was blown up as scheduled, cutting the isthmus of Panama in two by water. One of these pictures shows the dike shortly before the explosion. Workmen are seen on the big dam preparing it for the dynamite charge. The dam was about sixty-five feet high and three-quarters of a mile long. It was destroyed by 1,227 charges of dynamite. The other picture shows an explosion of one of the workhouses used for dynamite. This was destroyed purposely.

BUSH'S YACHT HIS COFFIN.

Scuttled at Sea With His Ashes, the Crew Reports.

Portland, Me.—A story which for novel features has few parallels is told by the crew of the schooner yacht Lydia, scuttled about ten miles off this port late in August with the cremated body of her owner, James Freeman Bush, a wealthy paper manufacturer resting on a table in the cabin. The sending of the handsome craft to final anchorage with the ashes of Mr. Bush aboard was the result of a dying request made by him to his wife in a hospital here where he had been operated on and where he died Aug. 24.

According to the story told by members of the crew and not denied by Mrs. Bush, the Lydia, adrift which Mr. Bush had spent a good deal of time in late years, left Portland late in August with all sail set and towing a motorboat. Mrs. Bush was aboard. So were two close friends of Mr. Bush.

On a table in the cabin lay the ashes of the owner. Captain Frank M. Skofield of Candy Harbor, who had sailed the vessel for Mr. Bush, was at the wheel. About ten miles off the port the vessel was headed into the wind and with an ax a hole was cut in the craft. Slowly she filled and sank to her grave.

MORE TRAIN RIDERS ARE LANDED IN COUNTY JAIL

Railroads Swarming With Husky Young Men Who Travel in Gangs and Are Captured Accordingly.

FAST TRAINS HELD WHILE HOOBOES ARE ORDERED OFF

Four Offenders Now in County Jail

Trying to Escape Time in the Workhouse, While One Seeks Return to Norfolk Navy Yard from Which Place He Has Furlough—Workhouse May be Fate of All Such Offenders.

B. & O. Detective R. A. Kennedy landed another pair of train riders Tuesday morning, pulling them from the front of the baggage car on No. 101, and escorting them to Justice T. N. Craig's office where each man was fined $5 and the costs for train riding, and ordered committed to the Xenia workhouse until the fine was paid in full.

This is the second pair of "boos" Detective Kennedy has placed in the local jail within the past few days and he is keeping an eye out for other men who have been annoying the railroad with their presence as blind baggage.

The two men arrested Tuesday morning gave the names of Bruce Smith and Harry Messman, of Cincinnati, and said they could raise the money to pay their way to freedom if they were granted a few days' time. They wrote to friends for financial assistance.

Frank Barber and John Martin, two men landed in jail a few days ago, are still doing time, and Barber is becoming very anxious about the expiration of a furlough from the Norfolk Navy yard, and fears that he will have a six months term in prison if he fails to get out in time to return by October 30th.

Detective Kennedy picked the two men up while they were trying to make their escape. Two others failed to "round to" when the detective pumped some hot lead after them.

Detective Kennedy placed seven train riders in the Wilmington jail Monday, taking them from one train. The road is lined with the fellows, and Monday night No. 2 on the main line, one of the fastest trains on the system, was compelled to stop four times at Midland City to put the hoo-boos off.

A few months ago the Mayor of Chillicothe sentenced some of the men to the work house, and compelled them to work out $25 and the costs. Others were sentenced to the street gang and forced to work out their fines.

As virtually all of the train riders are husky young men they can easily earn their way to freedom by hard work, and Justice Craig is seriously considering the advisability of sentencing the fellows to the work house whenever they come before him, unless they can arrange for the fine and costs.

O. E. S. HOLDS MEMORIAL SERVICE

Royal Chapter No. 29, O. E. S., held one of the most beautiful memorial services which has ever honored their deceased members, Monday night.

Mrs. George S. Hodson read the roll call of members who have answered the eternal roll call, and followed with a memorial tribute of great beauty and appreciation.

Mrs. Gertrude Veal and Mrs. Hale Whelpley, two members lost during the past year, were especially remembered.

Dr. Lucy Pine, Mrs. Minnie Brown, Mrs. Glen Pine and Miss Clara Davis composed a quartet of harmoniously blending voices and contributed much pleasure in their music. Miss Alberta Coffman played the accompaniment.

A pathetic little reading singularly apropos to the service, was effectively given by Mrs. Blanche McFadden.

The Memorial Service Committee, having in charge the program, included Mrs. Geo. S. Hodson, Mrs. Alice Moorman, Mrs. May Rogers.

CAPTAIN JACK THE POET SCOUT

The appearance of Captain Jack Crawford, the nation-famous poet Scout, in this city, October 16th and 17th is awaited with considerable interest, and his visit here is particularly eagerly awaited by the boys, although he never fails to please his older admirers as well.

The noted Indian fighter, who bulleets over with wit, will lecture at the Empire and will appear at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon and Grace church at night. This will afford everyone an opportunity to hear him.

He comes under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and that organization deems itself fortunate in securing a man who is well known in every state in the Union.

MOVES TO SPRINGFIELD

Mr. Dick Thompson and wife will shortly move from Market street to the William Smith farm residence, now occupied by Mr. George Wolfe and family. Mr. Wolfe has purchased property in Springfield and will make that city his home to the regret of many friends in this locality.

Following this, her first loss of a husband, Miss Martin again appeared at the local license desk, Thursday of this week, with John Hibbler as the prospective groom. Again answering to the questions of "how many years," the answer appears as 27. And yet it is said after 25, woman never becomes older until she's 50.—Chillicothe Gazette.

PROMISES TO PLACE D. T. AND I. IN SHAPE

Attorney General Hogan is in receipt of a letter from George P. Johnson, receiver of the D. T. & I. railroad stating that the Bondholders committee is to purchase the road on January 20th, 1914, and that the road will then be placed in condition to take care of the business properly.

The letter states that the Bondholders' committee has agreed with Judge Tuttle of the United States District Court of Michigan, to bid in the road and to advance the money necessary for improvements.

Attorney General Hogan stated that if the promise was carried out he would take no further action toward forcing the owners to act, at least until after the sale in January.

So often has the sale date of the road been fixed that it has long since become a joke, and with the general public considerable doubt attaches to a satisfactory adjustment of affairs of the road.

RACE HORSE FAILED TO RECOVER AND OWNER SUES SURGEONS

Charles H. Hayes, owner of the famous pacing horse Independence Boy, crippled in a race in Columbus Oct. 3, 1912, has brought suit in common pleas court for $10,000, against the firm of Brown & Brown, veterinary surgeons, charging their faulty work in setting the broken bone in the horse's leg had caused him to be permanently crippled.

At the time of the accident, when Independence Boy fractured the pastern bone of his left hind leg, he held the world's championship for the three fastest consecutive heats ever paced, the time being 2.02, 2.01 and 2.02. Because of his record, he was considered exceedingly valuable and was able to win large purses. Since the fracture of his leg, the petition claims, he is so crippled that he is unable to be used in any way on the track and his value is entirely gone.

It is stated in the petition that the owner of the horse employed the veterinarians at their own request and they were to reduce the fracture and care for the injury. The claim is made that faulty work and lack of proper attention prevented the recovery of the horse.

The call for the convention will be issued within a few days by the State Agricultural Commission, under whose direction it will be held this year.

This will be the first convention of sealers since the new law, compelling sale of most food products by weight instead of measure, went into effect.

WOMAN AGES 10 YEARS IN TWELVE MONTHS

Aging ten years in little over 12 months, appears to be the remarkable feat accomplished by a young lady of this city, according to the records kept in the probate judge's office.

In August, 1912, Miss Nellie Martin, of this city, was party to a marriage contract with William Saikeld of Pittsburgh. At the time Miss Martin's age appears as 27. Saikeld the following January was found guilty of bigamy, having one wife already at Pittsburgh, and is now serving a sentence of one year in the Ohio penitentiary to which place he was sentenced by Judge Goldsherry.

Following this, her first loss of a husband, Miss Martin again appeared at the local license desk, Thursday of this week, with John Hibbler as the prospective groom. Again answering to the questions of "how many years," the answer appears as 27. And yet it is said after 25, woman never becomes older until she's 50.—Chillicothe Gazette.

Mrs. F. B. Cremer entertained the Court Street Bridge club Tuesday afternoon, the first club session of the year.

Thirty young girls and boys were indebted to Miss Kathleen Davis for one of the most unique and altogether delightful affairs which has ever been tendered to this very young set.

It was a "roast," a never-to-be-forgotten roast, in a beautiful grove back of the Davis home on S. Main street. A glorious big moon rose over the big trees and the scene was one of fantastic beauty. A huge campfire, its blaze and sparks rising high to the heavens as the great logs crackled and roared, shocks of golden corn, heaped high and hundreds of Japanese lanterns adding soft illumination to the moon's rays, transformed the grove into fairy land.

And the time that the jolly crowd had! They roasted all kinds of eatables in the big fire, they sat around it and told stories, a prize going to the best story-teller, they vied with each other in merry original contests, and played all kinds of outdoor games. The prizes in the contests were won by Gretchen V. His, Alloysius McDonald, Jesse Ingeler, Robt. McFadden, Earth Worthington and Kathleen Foreman.

Late in the evening the party repaired to the house where Mr. Davis served dainty refreshments and the evening wound up merrily with High school songs and solos that fairly took off the roof. It was so different that the young people thought they had never had so good a time.

IRON COURAGE OF CAPTAINS PREVENTED A GREATER LOSS

INCH AND BARR SAVED HUNDREDS

Names of Two Heroes Added to the World's Roll of Honor.

STORY OF VOLTURNO DISASTER

Young Commander of the Burning Ship Conquers Single-Handed Hordes of Crazed Men and Prevents Rush for the Lifeboats—Coolness of Captain Barr of the Carmania Also Prevents Loss of Life.

London, Oct. 14.—The Volturno disaster has added the names of two heroes to the world's roll of honor.

Passengers of the Carmania who landed at Fishguard say that Captain Francis Inch of the Volturno and Captain James C. Barr of the Carmania saved hundreds of lives, the one by iron courage, the other by cool intelligence. The stories of the men and women who stood on the Carmania's deck on Tuesday and Friday, when there was riot and panic as well as fire on the Volturno, agree that the young commander of the burning ship conquered almost single-handed a horde of half-crazed men and prevented a rush for the lifeboats, a rush that would have certainly cost the lives of hundreds who were eventually saved.

These stories are that the intelligence and resourcefulness of Captain Barr made it possible for 12 great ships, clustered dangerously in heavy seas, to maneuver safely and to take from the Volturno on Friday morning the 533 lives that Captain Inch's courage had saved. It is a wonderful picture that the Carmania's passengers give of the one they witnessed when men of the crew and men of the steerage of the Volturno went crazy with fear, thrust aside women and children, fought like wild beasts to seize the lifeboats and were beaten back and subdued by Francis Inch.

It was scarcely less thrilling to hear of Captain Barr's ready seamanship and quick-witted maneuvers at a time when it appeared that nothing on earth could keep the fire from driving the Volturno's people into the sea. Barr had experimented with small boats. The wind and the waves beat him there. But he knew a way to win. He told his wireless operators to call for ships that carried oil, to bring up, if possible, one of the big oil tanks. The plan was perfectly successful. Up came the Narragansett at dawn of Friday. She pumped great streams of oil on the lifting waves smoothed them out and gave the life boats of the international fleet their opportunity to get under the stern of the Volturno and to race for the honor of saving life.

There is still another picture of the

HEAD ALL BROKEN OUT

Woman Tells How She Was Cured by Reliable Skin Remedy

Mrs. M. J. Downing, 1527 Rucker Avenue, Everett, Wash., says: "I want to tell you how I was cured by Saxo Salve. I had a breaking out on my forehead and all around my ears, and some on my scalp, which was very annoying. I tried different remedies without benefit and went into Darling's drug store, thinking to get some other remedy, but Mr. Darling wanted me to try Saxo Salve. I did so and it certainly cured my trouble in a very short time, and also my sister had scalp trouble, which it cured. I would willingly recommend it to every one and am very grateful for the relief."

In all kinds of eczema, salt rheum, tetter, barber's itch, etc., Saxo Salve has wonderful healing power, because its healing antiseptic properties penetrate the skin pores, and destroy the germs of disease.

We give back your money if Saxo Salve does not satisfy you perfectly. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists, Washington C. H., Ohio.

rescue that catches the imagination—the big Carmania standing by and shielding the fleet of small boats from the gale as they worked with desperate rapidity.

Modest Captain Barr.

Captain Barr would not talk himself when the Carmania put in at Fishguard. He referred all inquiries to reports he had made to his line, and said that he would wait until he arrived at Liverpool before supplying missing details. But his passengers told the story for him. As they landed they told it breathlessly. Their words poured from them. One could see how greatly they had been relieved by the final rescue of the hundreds they had believed were doomed to death by fire or drowning.

Miss Hick, a young American woman, said she couldn't persuade herself the scene was real when she looked over the Carmania's rail and saw a great company of men, women and children huddled in the afterpart of the Volturno.

"It was like a nightmare," said Miss Hick. "We got as close to the Volturno as twice the width of a street. We had to look. There was an awful fascination that gripped us. In the forepart of the ship the flames were leaping high. It looked as if they would certainly spread to the stern in an hour or two. Even in a momentary glance we could see the terror of the Volturno's passengers. The faces of the men were distorted beyond description. Dore has drawn such faces in picturing Dante's Inferno. We saw the white faces of women and girls, some of whom were on their knees praying. We saw mothers with children at their breasts, who strained their babies to them and reached out hands to us appealing for help. That night these horrors were revealed by searchlights. Once when the beam of light wheeled and fell on the miserable souls at the stern of the burning liner we saw right in the light a baby who was laughing in its mother's face somehow that seemed to me the most dreadful bit of the whole scene."

Hartman Theater

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 23, 24 and 25, the attraction will be a farce entitled, "Stop Thief!"

This farce was one of the sensational hits of last season in New York and is meeting with crowded houses on the road this season.

The story is of a wealthy young man of kleptomaniac tendencies who is engaged to a young lady whose father is also given to helping himself to that which does not belong to him.

Neither knows of the other's inclination, of course, and when the wedding approaches and the wedding gifts that are sent begin to disappear the fun begins.

+++++ CHESTNUTS KILL TWO SMALL BOYS.

Forestville, Conn., Oct. 14—Pitomine poisoning from eating chestnuts is the cause given by the attending physician for the death of Edward Roberts, 6, and his 3-year-old brother, Raymond. The physician believes the nuts were affected by chestnut blight. The lads gathered them in a field near their home.

WETS FAIL IN INJUNCTION ON ANTI-SHIPPING

Special to Herald.

Columbus, Oct. 14—The Supreme court decided today that the dry's initiated bill to prohibit the shipment of liquor into dry territory must be submitted at the November election.

The wet's asked for an injunction to prohibit the measure being submitted to the voters, and the decision is against them.

REAL YARD ENGINE NOW IN COMMISSION

A fully equipped yard engine has supplanted the regular freight engine which has been doing the work in the local B & O. and C. H. & D. yards.

The engine, No. 106, did its first work here Tuesday morning, and is much more satisfactory than the regular freight engine.

The freight terminal at this point is said to be proving a big success, and the freight service has been much more satisfactory on this division of the road since the change was made.

Indications are that the terminal at this point will be a permanent feature.

REPORTED VOLTURNO DESTROYED BY PLOTTERS

Liverpool, Oct. 14—There is a rumor in Liverpool which is almost unbelievable, to the effect that the destruction of the steamship Volturno was the result of a deliberate plot to destroy the ship. This is said to be the belief of the owners of the Uranium Line, who ascribe it to attempts of the German and Dutch emigrant lines to break up the continental business of their company.
